-THE TIMES DAILY MAGAZINE PAGE

We Print Appropriate Offerings

Differings

A Few of Our Contributions
Are Printed For the Benefit of All Concerned—Of Course We Wish That There Was Room Here For a Few More of Them On This Bright Wash Day Morning?

By LAURA CLAWSON.

F the three of us, little Anne, who perhaps would have enjoyed the outling most, was the most undisturbed. The rain was coming down in sheets, and altogether it looked as if we had chosen the worst day of the summer for our pionic.

"How does she keep such an even disposition?" I asked her mother as Anne herself departed for a book; "we grown-ups are thoroughly out of temper with the weather, and, after all, we know better, while Anne is philosophically setting to amuse herself as if nothing had happened."

"I think it has never occurred to Anne that worrying about a thing could possibly help," said Anne's sensible mother. "She seemed to take all the ups and downs of her babyhood as a matter of course, perhaps because she has always been a healthy child. It is certainly a magic gift, and I do hope she will retain it."

Preserve Even Temper.

celebrate our contributors. Very shortly, however. There is little room for anything anywhere these days. Every Monday will be contributor's day. A friend suggests that we give a housekoeper's week-with a column devoted to

The first Monday will be in celebration

The first Monday will be in celebration of wash day.
Therefore, the next contributor's day will be two weeks off.
Ironing day will come next.
Other days of household importance will be announced later. Thursday will be the maid's day off, Friday the sweeping day, and Saturday cleaning day. We don't know how to spend Wednesday yet. Perhaps some one can suggest a suitable Wednesday household pastime.

Are Men People?

Of the six male Fellow Feeders who ented my lunchroom at the same with me today one was making his substantial repast of vanilla ice cream, two of strawberry ice cream, one of vanilla and strawberry ice cream, and one of vanilla and strawberry ice cream with a hunk of chocolate cake on the side.

And ONE upheld the traditions and honor of the SUPERIOR sex by eating ham and eggs.

PRO BONO PUBLICO.

Tis time to change your raiment, for You'll have to push them off the map So listen to the things that you must grows raw; But listen to me, girtle, when I plead, For Heaven's sake, dear, keep within -F. C. VALENTINE.

When a temperamental woman reads of a horse "champing restively on its bit," she can't tell exactly what it means, perhaps, but she feels that she often does it.

This is the situation: If you don't want to know a woman's age, she would just as soon tell you, but if she thinks you are curious she will do anything to keep the truth from

OUITE the right style for the illustration, made to slip on over the head and with a yoke back and front. The front and yoke are slashed through the center and finished with eyelets for ribbon lacing. A small pocket in the right side front has its advantages, and edging gives a dainty touch to the flat collar and sleeve. Long-cloth, flannelette, crepe, and similar fabrics are desirable for developing. The time it takes to make this gown will

Pattern is cut in sizes 34, 38,

To make in size 38 will require 45% yards 36-inch material, 21/8 yards edging, and 1 yard ribbon for lacing.

To obtain this pattern fill out the coupon and enclose 10 cents in stamps or coin. Address Pattern Department, Washington Times, Munsey Suiding, 11 th.

The Washington Times guarantees the be well spent.

42, 46 bust measure.

this time is the gown in

Philosophers

By LAURA CLAWSON.

Preserve Even Temper.

Preserve Even Temper.

If there is one duty we do owe the children it is the preservation of this children it is the preservation of this children it is the preservation of this children it is the preservation of things as they happen. Example may do a very great deal toward depriving the child of a contented disposition of that philosophy.

Children's joys and sorrows are of the moment; they set contentedly to work again and again to build houses which fall, castless which the waves destroy, and fancies which do not leat the day through. If one pleasure falls, life is so interesting and so new that another comes to take the place of the vanished joy. It is only when our mature wisdom comes to us we count the change in our plans as a dire misfortune.

Phillipson to incurtable in the comments of the comments to the comments of the contents of the cont fortune.

Disillusion is inevitable in so many things that we ought to see to it that the children keep that happy spirit of the art of substituting one activity for another as long as possible.

Child Born Philosopher. If they see us frowning because the weather has changed, or because we are detained by some unavoidable are detained by some unavoidable oc-currence, naturally they feel that per-haps life is more complicated than they have hitherto known it.

I think more than any other gift the ability to meet sudden disappointment, to overcome the tendency to fuss and fume when plans have to be changed is to be cultivated in the childern.

Long experience teaches us that the average child is born with this philoso-phy, and it is only when he sees the adults about him rail at Fate does he feel it necessary to do so.

feel it necessary to do so, (Copyright, 1916, by Laura Clawson.

What They Say About Us

Full Classrooms.

Even the most timorous parents should be ready to place their children in school after the demonstration during the first week of the term that the in-fantile paralysis scare, for scare it was fantile paralysis scare, for scare it was and never an epidemic, has passed. The cases of the disease have dwindled in number until they are too few to occasion comment. And this has continued while the city's children have mingled normally in the public schools.

In spite of all, 200,000 children are still kept from their desks by anxious parents. Now that the absence of danger is clear these youngsters should not be held behind their classes further. The municipal authorities will not enforce the compulsory attendance rules for another week in order that all fathers and mothers may calm down. There should be no necessity for compulsion when the period of grace expires.—New

Those who take the old advice about being sure to be right before going ahead usually eat at the second table.— Toledo Blade.

Children Are Born Do Women Lack the Instinct For the Best Workmanship?

'They Are Incurable Volunteers," Says An Irate Male, Goaded By Recent Sad Experience; "They Are Too Self-Conscious About Their Jobs; They Work Not Because They Want To, But Because They Have To."

SHELTERED DAUGHTERS, discovered and handed over to the New Republic in an article written recently by Miss Lena Manders, will seen have to be sheltered from the volley of discussion new huried at them. The latest contributor brings serious charges against all women who work. He is, apparently, in some branch of social service. He fears women have not what he calls the fourth dimension necessary for solid work building, i. e., the instinct for workmanship, with all their supersiriousness women.

HELTERED DAUGHTERS, discovered and handed over to the complaint against the quality of complaint against the quality of women's services can be made."

Mrs. Maude Schwartz, of the Woman's Trade Union League, laughed when she read the article which is the basis of this interview.

"The gentleman is a social worker? I should expect such comments from one in that field. The women he meets inspire them. That is because many social workers do not want to do the commonplace necessary things that jobs entail. A great many college girls who work don't want a job—they want section.

Miss M. E. Smith, the head of the Remington Typewriter Employment Bureau, had read the article in questions.

rious charges against all women who work. He is, apparently, in some branch of social service. He fears women have not what he calls the fourth dimension necessary for solid work building, i. e., the instinct for workmanship. With all their supersiriousness women lack conscience about their work.

* They take it both too hard and too lightly. They are "incurable volunteers," falling "to be possessed, by the meaming of labor." They are "inherently incapable of contesting in any field except from economic motives and continue to leave money making for home making whenever they have the chance. Possibly the true joy in the ideals of labor may come to women when they realize not that they do not get as much from it as men, but why they do not."

The artist we spoke to grunted when she heard of this iconcolastic news: "I don't know whether or not most women enter the workaday sketch field for any other motive than economics, but if they do they shouldn't, I don't know whether women should work, but I know artists shouldn't. It may not be the instinct for workmanship that leads many gifted women to try to 'sell' their talents, but at least it is an inherent desire to get in contact with a world whose standards of competence they think they will find exacting. The important thing is not to be conscientious in your job. It's a flat question of being ken about it."

ken about it."

Kitty, the elderly fruit selling daughter of Italy who daily appears at our office door with "Something nice, lady?" was approached on this subject. "Kitty, are you an incurable volunteer?" She rested the heavy basket of fruit against her apron front. "Wha'?" She cocked her head and frowned, listening. "Did you enter this field from other than an economic motive or do you really like to work?" She understood that. "Like to work? Say, lady, do you?"

"Kitty," we parried with dignity, "have you always had to work?" She nodded slowly. She was thinking, looking back. "Always, always I do a da' work. Always, I work so much in dees life sometime I think I weel have to work after death. That weel have to work after death. That weel have to work after death. That weel were think that went understand."

rush.
"Do you think that men understand the ideals of labor any more clearly than women?"
She shrugged her magnificently broad shoulders. Her dark eyes, powerful, atill gleamed with a Mona Lisa smile. "Da men?" she laughed. "Lady, men is men an' som' is loafers, an' som' is—men. Some nice apples, eh?"

Miss Houghton, of the intercollegiate bureau of occupations, in New York, read the article carefully. "We handle a great many women who don't have to Frequently prospective employers inshould be no necessity for compulsion when the period of grace expires.—New York Evening Sun.

It is now conceded that if a girl marries once and does not succeed, she is always willing to marry again to find out why.—Memphis Commercial Appeal.

Queer, isn't it, how when the wife goes away for a week there's so many less things to do for amusement than there was in the bachelor days?—Macon News.

Bachelor Girl's Reflections

By HELEN ROWLAND.

LL love is 99.44 per cent purepure imagination, pure vanity, pure curiosity, pure folly, or whatever else it happens to be.

It is the noble, unselfish, high-souled woman who inspires men with chivalry -but it's the other kind who gives them t chance to practice it.

To a bachelor a wedding ring on a pretty woman's finger is the white flag which assures him that he may proceed (to flirt) with safety.

Near love is to real love what dyed muskrat is to real seal; there is a lot more of it, it is much cheaper, almost as beautiful, and will last just about as long as you will want it, anyhow, Don't waste your tears on the girls a heart-breaker should have married and didn't; save them all for the girl he will marry and shouldn't.

When a man decides to "cut out the gay life," it is not so often for lack of interest as for lack of capital, dearie. (Copyright, 1918.)

The Wind-Barren.

Night is on the downland, on the lonely moorland, On the hills where the wind goes over sheep-bitten turf.

Where the bent grass beats upon the unplowed poorland

And the pine woods roar like the surf.

Here the Roman lived on the wind-bar-ren lonely.

Dark now and haunted by the moor-land fowl; None goes there now but the peewit And meth-like death in the owl.

Beauty was here, on this beetle-droning downland:
The thought of a Caesar in the purple came
From the place by the Tiber in the Roman townland
To this wind-swept hill with no name. Lonely Beauty came here and was here in sadness, Brave as a thought on the frontier of the mind.
In the camp of the wild upon the march of madness,
The bright-eyed Queen of the blind.

The bright-eyed Queen of the blind.

Now where Beauty was are the windwithered gorses withered gorses wind's blast,
The flying sky is dark with running horses And the night is full of the past.

John Massfield, in October Yale Repeated with the latter are proposed as and it took some time to supply the gas and it took some time to supply the gas and water. The men looked as though the year ready for business, and each one of them carried an —."

On! there were so many things of interest," said his father, "that it would be hard to tell your about all of them.
But I never became tired of seeing them get the truck trains ready to start out to join General Pershing. There would the company to sixty trucks in one of these trains, and it took some time to supply the gas and water. The men looked as though they were ready for business, and each one of them carried an —."

(The complete the picture graw a streight line from the dot marked A to the dot marked B, and so on through the streight line from the dot marked B. and so on through the streight line from the dot marked B. and so on through the streight line from the dot marked B. and so on through the streight line from the dot marked B. and so on through the streight line from the dot marked B. and so on through the streight line from the dot marked B. and so on through the streight line from the dot marked B. and so on the streight line from the dot marked B. and the proposition of the streight line from the dot marked B. and the picture gray and it took some time to supply the gas and it took some time to supply the gas and it took some time to supply the gas and it took some time to supply the gas and it took some time to supply the gas and it took some time to supply the gas and it took some time to supply the gas and it took some time to supply the gas and it took some time to supply the gas and it took some time to supply the gas and it took some time to supply the gas and it took some time took some time to supply the gas and it took some time to supply t who work don't want a job—they want excitement.

"Of course, women leave money making for home making. You can't do two jobs at once—as a rule, a man works harder when he's married than when he is single (so do some women, too), but there are lots of men who would like to loaf on their wives with no reflection in their ideals of labor inferred.

"Women aren't incurable volunteers. They are born volunteers. Man didn't pay them for so many hundreds of years that now if they ever get $2.50 all at once they think themselves rich. They are incurable volunteers now, not because they want to be, but because they want to be, but because they can't get anything for their work. Women are close-fisted naturally. They squeeze each penny, because they never know when they will see another. Men have taught them to work for nothing. Men have made them the world's volunteers.

"Give woman a hundred years, give her the training and experience of a hundred years' work behind her, then see what and how much she volunteers. Women have had to learn how Bureau, had read the article in question.

"No worker remains an incurable volunteer who has value. Our girls have value, and they know it. To have women en enter work because they have to is the highest economic motive.

"The woman who lacks the instinct for workmanship will never be one who goes on up. She will remain among the many workers who never understand why other people succeed.

"Girls who haven't any capacity for workmanship are usually the ones who allow small trifles to upset them and make them switch their jobs. They suspect they are being asked to do something which they consider beneath them."

Fault of Early Training.

When such a timorous man submits to a "psycho-analysis," as it is called, it is usually found that he has a series of hidden thoughts, among which is the wish that he could run to his mother's arms for help and comfort in every fresh difficulty.

Usually men of this type were made mollycoddles in childhood by being too closely guarded and too tenderly looked after by too fond mothers, with the repressed self-confidence acts as an unconacious influence to check firmness, resolution, and decisive judgment.

"Mamma's angel darling" is often a proper object of ridicule. Children who Tomorrow Kitty will come back with more apples to sell. taste as good as though they had been sold by a man. She knows naught of the fourth qualification for labor. Her instinct is not one for work, but one of hunger. She works because she still or school togs for the young folks, and if she is & wise mother she will give the same to the selection of the school at the that she does to the party s. The idea "it's only for every ear" is no longer entertained, and wardrobe that she does to the party dresses. The idea "it's only for every wear" is no longer entertained, and the mother who knows will see to it that her child is not embarrassed in her daily school life by a deficient wardrobe. This does not necessarily imply extravagance in dress. The prime ply extravagance in dress. The prime essential is that prevailing modes should be of first consideration in children's garments just as they are in those of mother. If you purchase garments ready made you will have no difficulty in securing a modish wardrobe as even the low priced wearing apparel is developed on fashionable lines. Do not purchase an old-fashioned dress or coat under the impression it will be good enough for school wear.

FOR SCHOOL WEAR

Wide Range of Selection. The shops are now featuring garments in the popular grades suitable for school wear, so you will have a wide range for selection. There are serviceable ges, pretty plaids, and a large assortment of attractive dresses in stripes garments. In dresses the straight line, box pleated models with a belt are popular. The smock is a favorite garment with the older school girl and can be had in a variety of fabrics, stries and colors. Then there are the regulation sailor dress and the Russian blouse effects. The white guimpe and dark suspender skirt is a good combination garment most girls. Sashes and belts are modish, but should be adjusted at or near the normal waistline. The extreme low belted effects are no longer fashionable. line, box pleated models with a belt

New Combination Ideas.

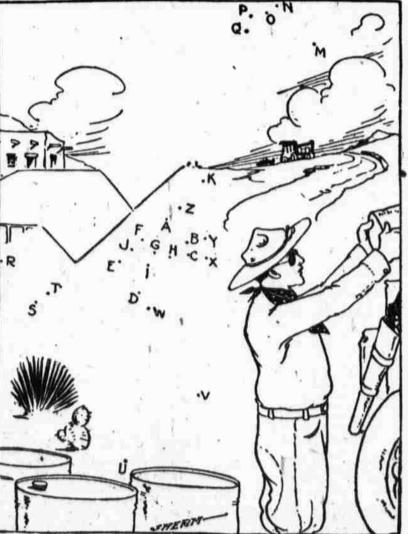

If you want to remodel the children's dresses you will find suggestions in the new combination ideas as seen in the fall showings. There is, for instance, the bodice and coatee of plain material and a skirt and trimmings of plaid, checked or striped, fabric. sortment of attractive dresses in stripes and checks.

Many mothers prefer wash dresses for school wear the year round, and so the shops are showing pretty models in heavy linen, pique, cordaline, chambray and rep. These are the popular fabrics and if you are making the dresses instead of buying them you will find a large stock of these materials to select from.

In the serges and gabardines dark colors are preferred for school wear and navy blue, dark brown and hunters green are the favorites. These somber In coats the new tailored models in

By CLIFFORD LEON SHERMAN.

The Alphabetical Dots

Why Coddled Children May Actually Remain Infants Through Life

By DR, LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG.

HE latest research of psycho-ana- | courtier or sweetheart seems main babies in thought and action all their lives, even though they grow up in physique.

Boys who hang to their mother's apron strings and girls who cling affectionately to their father's neck are very apt to enter adult life handicapped by a lack of self-reliance and self-confidence, which makes them shy, bashful, and which makes them shy, bashrul, and timorous.

I know a young man who received a university diploma, graduating with honors in his profession. He has strength, knowledge, wisdom, and an excellent intellect, but somehow he does not seem to be able to make his way in the world. He is too bashful with his clients as well as with his colleagues.

Fault of Early Training.

fresh difficulty.

Usually men of this type were made mollycoddles in childhood by being too closely guarded and too tenderly looked after by too fond mothers, with the result that in adult life the repressed self-confidence acts as an unconscious influence to check firmness, resolution, and decisive judgment.

"Mamma's angel darling" is often a proper object of ridicule. Children who are coddled, and petted too much throughout childhood may psychologically remain infants all their lives. In the face of the worldly obstacles which most humanity must meet, such hidden, infantile impulses must be brought up from the cellars of sinconsciousness to be done away with.

Set Parents on Pedestal.

The instant that a man is convinced that this mental homesickness for a mother's love; comfort, and protection bold.

There is no doubt that some old maids and bachelors remain in single blessedness because they are baby-like in their unconscious impulses. They have an unconscious ideal, woven in infancy, of their mother's or father's individuality, beside whom every possible reature full of defects. They set their parents upon a pedestal in the hidden recesses of the unconcious mind, there to be held as an ideal with which every lover is compared to his detriment. Thus old maids and bachelors may actually be "infants" who cling throughout life to the "swad-dling clothes of babyhood." Copyright, 1918, Newspaper Feature Service.

Answers to Health Questions

my hair? It is full of dandruft, 3.—
What can be done for liver trouble?
These may be enlarged pores. They are annoying, but not serious. Massage, vibration, and the use of some harmless paste such as lycopodium powder and glycerine, or borated cocca butter helps to fill them out.

2.—Dandruff occurs in tiny flakes of dry epiderm as well as in an oily state of the scalp. Red blotches may or may not be present. Sometimes there is itching and burning, sometimes not, Sulphur is an avowed remedy, I dram of it with ten grains each of resorch, salicylic acid and sulphate of quining to an ounce of petrolatum used three times a week, does much good.

3.—Drink about three quarts of distilled water or a pure corbonated water daily, also cream, olive oil, whey, buttermilk, and eat plenty of green vegetables. Shun bread, potatoes, tea, coffee, seasoned foods, and solids. Take 5 grains of either one of the following after meals, ox-gail, ox-bile, or bile salts.

B. B.—Please advise a renedy for

B. B. B.—Please advise a renedy for a sore feeling and pain in the elbows, shoulders, and muscles. A small electric vibrator used on the painful parts may be beneficial. Mas-sage, hot applications, dry heat and Swedish movemen's may also be tried.

D. F. M. A.—If you will send a stamped, self-addressed envelope, repeating your query, I will gladly send you a personal reply.

W.&J.SLOANE

Thoroughly Dependable, Artistic

AXMINSTER RUGS

Size 9 ft. x 12 ft., at $31.50

These Rugs are woven in a variety of for Living Rooms, Dining Rooms and Libraries.

Better Floor Coverings for these purposes are not obtainable anywhere at such moderate prices.

All regular sizes in stock.

1508 H Street N.W.

Telephone Main 925

AMUSEMENTS

NEW NATIONAL TONIGHT at 848. Popular Wednesday Matinee, 25c to $1 Selwyn & Co. Present,

Fair 🗝 Warmer WITH MADGE KENNEDY

AND NEW YORK COMPANY. EXT WEEK-SEATS THURSDAY. THE HOUSE OF GLASS

By Max Marcin, With MARY RYAN
And the Original New York Company. SUNDAY S P. M. Sub P. M. SOUSA AND BAND

With Peatures from "Rip, Hip, Hooray," New York Hippedrome Triumph.

Boston Symphony Orchestra SEASON OF FIVE CONCERTS Tuesday, Oct. 31; Nov. 28; Jan. 2; Feb. 13, March 13, NATIONAL THEATER, 4:30.

Soloists-MME. EMMY DESTINN, FRITZ KREISLER, and others to be announced.

Season tickets—Orchestra, $10.00; balcony, 2 rows, $10.00; balcony, gremaining rows, $7.50; gallery, $5.00 and $3.75. Seats now on sale at Droop's, 13th and G.

BELASCO TONIGHT, 8:20 MATS. WED. AND SAT., $1,50 ANOTHER BELASCO PREMIERE DAVID BELASCO Presents

FRANCES STARR In a Refreshingly New Comedy, By the Authors of "Grumpy."

B.F. KEITH'S EVERY Mats., 25cj Eves., 25c to $1. TWO STARS TO LEAD GEO. WHITE andLUCILLE NORWORTH CAVANAGE AMUSEMENTS

POLI'S lonight 8:18
25c, 86c, 75c
ta. Tue.. Thur., and Sat.. 35c and sate to Dramatic Sensation of the Season WHILE THE CITY SLEEPS An Unusual Play
By Edward E. Rose.
Next Week—Nancy Boyce in
"THE WOMAN WHO PAID."

GAYETY DELLOY
TODAY AND ALL THIS WEEK
"AI Recees and His Big Beauty Show
TWELVE HEADLINE ACTS.
Next Week—"BAM SIDMAN."

LOEW'S COLUMBIA Continuous. Morn., Aft., 10, 15 Conta.

10:00 a.m., to 11 p.m., Nighta, 10, 15, 25 Conta.

NOW PLAYING.

FANNIE WARD

In "WITCHCRAFT"
Grand Organ. Symphony Orchestra The Shakespeare Society of America

MRS. HENRY ELLIOTT MOTT (Of New York and Virginia), in Her Lecture on SHYLOCK IS MY NAME"

In the Auditorium of the Caire, (Que, at 16th.) Tuesday Evening, Oct. 17, 1916, at 8ris. ADMISSION, 50 CENTS.
For tickets and information, address the Secretary of the Society at Roydon Court, 1819 R street.

DANCING

National Rifles Armory, G mear 9th. Open Mon., Thurs., Sat. eves. Dancing $100 to 12 p. m. Band & Orchestra with soloist. I MISS CHAPPELEAR.

Class Tuesday Evenings. WYNDHAM 818 12th st. N. W. Phone sons, 78c; class Thursday, 7:30 p. m. MILLER'S DANCES OF THE HOUR.

Individual and Private Instruction
Belasco Theater Bidg. M. 1229 M nw.
All dances hught correctly & guar. in few private leasons, any time. Class Tu. sy. N. 8514
GLOVER'S, 615 22d. Classes Tuns., Wed., Ball
Priv. lessons any hr., 50c.; latest methods.
Ballroom for rent, 18. Phone W. 1128. MR. & MRS, HARTLY; all latest steps direct from N. Y.; atudio 1123 10th at. nw. Ph. N. 2184; send for interesting literature in colors. Free agent for Modern Dance Magazine. 12

delivery of all patterns sent through this service. No patterns can be ob-tained in person. One week is needed for the filling of pattern orders. If patterns to not come within that time notify this office for adjustment. (SIZE MUST BE PUT ON COUPON.)

THE TIMES PATTERN SERVICE October 16.

Street and Number.....

Times Pattern Service